

II. The Discipline of Project Management

Project Control – The Control Process

The Control Process

- The project control process is designed to detect problems early, while they are still small enough to correct.

Project Control Process:

1. Develop a control plan
2. Monitor & report progress and evaluate deviations from plan.
3. Take corrective action where necessary.

